B Round	31

Soba - 91/100

Soba develops a multiplayer open-world platform to democratize game creation

Round Size	$13.5 Million
Investment Series	Seed
Noted Investors	Lightspeed
Location	Berlin, Germany
Total Raised	$91 Million

Soba is a gaming platform that is akin to the marriage of Roblox and Web3, where game creators build games to earn. They can monetize using either Web3 payment rails such as Bitcoin or lightning network, avoiding the high transaction costs of the main chains like Ethereum and possibly enabling Web3 micro transactions. Creators can also monetize via Web3 asset classes, for example by creating tokens within a game that have value and can be traded or sold outside the game, following the example of gold in World of Warcraft.

We avoid game studio investments, as they tend to be hot until they aren't. Rovio (Angry Birds) is a good example of the perils of holding equity in a one-hit game studio. Roblox, on the other hand, is a platform and a social network, which we feel has all the elements of a Blitzscaler. Soba is more like Roblox.

As a platform, it scores top points in the winner-takes-most category. As a quasi social network, it's critical that they get the product right, and it's too early to know whether they will, so we have to score them very conservatively on product market fit. If they do, developers are likely to promote it, as are the players of multi-player games, propelling strong distribution and virality. They open up market size by not requiring users to hold a crypto wallet, making the product accessible to non Web3 converts. The team is very strong, with deep gaming experience.

Hank- 85/100

Hank is a digital platform connecting adults 55+ with people and activities in their community.

Round Size	$7.0 Million
Investment Series	Seed
Noted Investors	General Catalyst, Resolute Ventures, AARP
Location	New York, NY USA
Total Raised	,$8.25 Million

Hank is a new social network for the 55+ crowd, and has a strong local component. Coming out of the pandemic especially, people are looking to meet and connect with people with whom they share common interests and life experiences, and Hank meets a latent need in this age group.

The local component is both a strength and a weakness, however. When critical mass is reached in a given market, aided by friends telling friends, there will be a strong local network effect and user experience, but these are not as strong as global network effects. Travelers, or those on short term or seasonal stays, are less likely to use a service like this than they would, say, Airbnb, making this a riskier bet.

Not surprisingly, AARP is part of the syndicate. Pickleball, anyone?

Ledger Investing - 81/100

Ledger Investing is an online marketplace powering interactions between investors and insurance carriers.

Round Size	$75 Million
Investment Series	Series B
Noted Investors	Accel
Location	San Francisco, CA, USA
Total Raised	$90.8 Million

Ledger Investing is a fascinating online marketplace for the securitization of insurance contracts to allow insurers to get them off their balance sheet and pass them on to investors. We'll be reaching out again now that they've raised this Series B.
